The Use-by Date can be found in the upper left hand corner of the package with the UPC numbers located on the back side of the bag.

No other Ready Pac Foods, Inc. products are included in this recall.

Alaska's Department of Environmental Conservation has verified these products have been distributed in Alaska.

To date, there have been no illnesses reported in Alaska or elsewhere; however, E. coli is a potentially deadly bacterium that can also cause bloody diarrhea, dehydration and kidney failure. The very young, seniors and people with compromised immune systems are the most susceptible to severe complications of this food-borne illness. Anyone experiencing any of these symptoms should contact a health care provider immediately.

Consumers who may have purchased the affected product are asked to record the Use-by Date and UPC number, immediately dispose of the product, and contact the Ready Pac Consumer Affairs representative, toll-free at (800) 800-7822, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Pacific time for refund information.

Romaine Salad

Romaine lettuce, also know as cos lettuce, is said to have originated from the Greek island of Cos, and it's believed to have been introduced to the New World on Columbus' second voyage. This lettuce variety is considered to be one of the oldest forms of cultivated lettuce.

Romaine lettuce has long sturdy green leaves that pale near the center. The leaves have crisp midribs that add a slightly bitter flavor and delightful crunch to salads, sandwiches and wraps. This lettuce is rich in carotenoids and contains more vitamins than another well-known salad ingredient - iceberg lettuce.

Trader Joe's Chopped Romaine Lettuce is triple-washed and ready to eat. While you'll often find this type of lettuce in a classic Caesar, we think it's ideal for a variety of salads. Here are a few of our favorite pairings:

- Combine Trader Joe's Chopped Romaine with cherry tomatoes, red onions, marinated artichoke hearts, garbanzo beans, and shaved Pecorino cheese. Top with a tangy balsamic vinaigrette.
- Toss Trader Joe's Chopped Romaine with thinly sliced shallots, tomatoes, and chives. Top with a blue cheese dressing.
- Top Trader Joe's Chopped Romaine with sliced tomatoes and a scoop of tuna salad. Drizzle with extra virgin olive oil and balsamic vinegar. Sprinkle a little salt and pepper to taste.
